

THE DETECTIVE FILES

Volume 1 Issue 4

August 23, 2019

Introduction

Again greetings readers and fellow writers/authors. The last few months has been pretty hectic. My first novel Emma Stevens and the Lord of Crime was released in May and I am now in the process of beginning to work on the sequel as well as on a kid's detective story (Which will be part of a series) and a Young Adult high fantasy series. The kid's detective story/series will be Abbigail Wilson the Kid Detective with the first book being Abbigail Wilson and the Masked Bandit and my YA series will be Verity Chronicles: the Jungle Master, the Witch Doctor and the Demon Lord. As seen in the picture above this is my little niece and nephew (say hello to Emerald and Xander).

NEWS/INFORMATION

Emma Stevens and the Lord of Crime (the 1st book in The Detective Files series) may have been released in May but the news has not stopped. The sequel to the book is being worked on (along with the kid detective series and my YA fantasy series). The contest for a free signed copy of the book has been cancelled due to lack of participation but there will be another chance very soon.

So in the mean time what has happened?

Updates to the website have been added.

Samples (or rough drafts of the old crime fiction series which the adult crime fiction series is based on is completely up onto the website). And when I say rough drafts they are literally rough drafts for your enjoyment. Also samples of both the YA Series and the kid detective book is also up for your enjoyment (in PDF format). So do come and check those out.

The samples to the old crime stories can be found here:
